

INDUSTRY BRIEF:

Mobile for Home Health, Hospice, and Palliative Care

Focus on Your Patients and Employees, Not Your Technology

When home health and hospice organizations go from paper documents to mobile devices for electronic health records, scheduling, and other needs, they often find it's not a seamless or straightforward process. There are multiple vendors for devices and software to manage, and many lack the necessary IT expertise. Expanding or merging agencies face many of the same issues when they need to get the entire organization on the same platforms. Rollouts get delayed, there's a lack of end-user support, and the tracking of legacy devices that must be upgraded or replaced is inadequate.

Together with our partners, Stratix can solve those problems with specialized end-to-end SmartMobile services that make it easy to manage devices and software for healthcare through a single point of contact.

We understand the challenges with implementing a successful mobile program to meet the unique needs of home healthcare:

Cost Control: Right size and manage the total solution to fit your requirements while reducing your TCO

Speed & Scale: One single provider to manage device acquisition, provisioning, and distribution regardless of project size

Complete Lifecycle Services: Speedy repair or replacement with spare pool management to keep costly downtime to a minimum

Asset Management: A cradle-to-grave view of every device, from procurement, provisioning, and activation to repair, technical support, and decommissioning

Stratix brings together the right solutions to meet these challenges head-on with our SmartMobile Programs:
