

eVideon Insight: A sign of improved patient comfort and satisfaction

Brigham and Women's Hospital shares the results of their research study which examined the impact of digital whiteboards on patient experience and communication in the Emergency Department.

98% said they had no trouble resting with the digital whiteboard in their room.

92% said the digital whiteboard was not distracting.

70% said the digital whiteboard was either quite a bit or extremely helpful in helping them understand what was happening during their stay.

96% of study participants preferred having one when given the opportunity to have a room with a digital whiteboard versus one without.

eVideon Insight integrates directly with your EMR in real time so you can be sure information is accurate and reliable. The interface and modules are fully customizable. Patients can interact using their pillow speaker handset, Companion Tablet, or even their own phones. To learn more, visit eVideon.com.